Unregistered Sex Offender from New Jersey Arrested in Ashe County

Jefferson N.C. – Sheriff B. Phil Howell announces the arrest of 31-year-old Jose Alberto Alboran of New Jersey. Alboran was a wanted fugitive from New Jersey who had been hiding in Ashe County.

On Monday, September 18, 2023, Ashe County Sheriff's Office and US Marshall Service found the wanted subject at his place of work and placed him in custody. Alboran had been living in Ashe County for about a month. The subject fled to North Carolina from his parole officer in New Jersey about 4 months ago.

Alboran's charges from New Jersey include:

- parole violations
- endangering the welfare of a child
- Fugitive Affidavit

Thanks to the collaboration with New Jersey officials and the US Marshall Service, Ashe County Sheriff's Office located the subject for apprehension.

Alboran was transported to the Ashe County Detention Center without incident. He is being held as an out-of-state fugitive without bond. Additional charges are pending.
